

ABSTRACT

A system and method for remotely viewing a centrally stored document is described. In one embodiment, a user identifier associated with a user attempting to view a document is received. Next, relationship data associated with the user is retrieved and a request to view a particular document is received. A style sheet associated with the user can then be retrieved and data can be accordingly rendered.

109506 v1/BD
2CH%01!.DOC